INDIAN HEAD.

—The mystery of the attempted robbery at the railway station has not been cleared up, but is becoming more and more apparent that Operator Ross's was true.

INDIAN HEAD, April 22.—Gabriel Dumont arrived here this evening direct from Batoche, accompanied by four half-breeds. He seems in the best of health and turns the scales at 230 pounds, and looks as though there was some fight in him yet, but his mission is one of peace, letting on his way to Montana to collect a large party, consisting of some forty half-breeds and twenty Indians who took part in the rebellion of 1885, including Big Bear's son and other distinguished characters. After organizing his party he will leave for France via New York to attend the world's fair to be held in Paris. He says he expects to reach Paris some time in June and anticipates dining with kings and great men. He chatted pleasantly of the stirring events of 1885, and shows the bullet marks received at Duck Lake with a good deal of pride. Dumont leaves here for Regina by midnight train, and will reach Winnipeg by Wednesday's train.

SALTCOATS.

—Mr. McKillop has been placed in charge of the Massey warehouse here.

—Rev. W. W. Adamson has gone east to attend the examination of students.

—Con. Featherstone, N.W.M.P., has left us, having been transferred to Qu'Appelle.

—Messrs. Bolton & Henderson have finished the Castleton and Mr. Anderson the Cut-Arm school houses.

—Mr. J. W. Thornton has returned from Ontario and brought his family with him. He has gone to Yorkton, and has opened out a general store in Mr. J. Roaman's building.

—Jas. Laycock was thrown from his horse a few days ago and sustained severe injuries to his arm and shoulder. He was confined to the house for a few days, but is around again nursing his arm.

—Thos. H. Lowes, late of Paris, has arrived here, and likes this district so well, that he has taken a homestead and pre-emption. Messrs. Dolson and Josie have also settled here. Intending settlers are arriving by every train.

—Archibald Urquhart also had a serious accident a few days ago while out riding. His horse set his foot in a badger hole and fell forward on his neck, breaking it, and throwing Mr. Urquhart. Of course it killed the horse, but the rider was uninjured.

—Mr. T. W. Buttle has leased his farm and intends moving his family in town. He already has a nice residence under way on the banks of the lake. We expect to see more fine residences going up on the banks of this pretty lake. This lake is not salt, neither is the country surrounding it, although the misnomer of the railway company or the Commercial Colonization company have applied to this place conveys to outsiders the impression that it is either a salt plain or an extensive alkali bed. Newcomers seem surprised to find that it is neither one or the other. "Stirling," the name which this place originally bore sounded much better.

It is said, by those who know, that "Saltcoats" is after a little fishing village in Scotland, the birthplace of the Allans.

MOOSOMIN.

MOOSOMIN, April 20.—Harry, eldest son of Inspector Constantine, of the mounted police here, and well known in Winnipeg, while handling a rifle this morning accidentally shot himself through the thigh, and expired shortly after while the wound was being examined by the doctors. Much sympathy is felt by the townspeople for the bereaved family.

TROUBLE ON THE SASKATCHEWAN.

OTTAWA, April 19th.—A vigorous petition was presented to-day from the town of Prince Albert on railway matters. There can be little doubt that the complaint of this petition, and the threat it makes, are the basis of the rumors that the half-breeds on the Saskatchewan are once more disaffected. The petitioners say the Prince Albert settlement was formed on the faith of public declarations and public maps pointing to the construction of the C. P. R. across that region. Not only has this road been deflected south, but, worse still, the Manitoba & Northwestern, the terminus of which was to have been Prince Albert, has been forgiven its arrears to the Government, and has been allowed to build northward at the rate of twenty miles a year, instead of fifty miles as originally intended. Last winter, when it was rumored that the Manitoba & Northwestern railway would be allowed concessions, three Prince Albert gentlemen proceeded to Ottawa to oppose the relaxation of the terms. They were assured by leading members of the government that the Long Lake railway instead would be pushed without delay, but a year has elapsed and nothing has been done, and the community is as far as ever from getting its rights. Meanwhile its interests are suffering. There are no markets for any cereals except wheat, and the people are dependent on the caprice of the milling interest, which, taking advantage of their distress, depresses the price for that cereal to 25 cents less than it would bring at the nearest point on the line of the Canadian Pacific railway. All other grains are lying unsold, and it is now almost impossible, even at ruinous rates, to dispose of any other product, including stock, with which the district is well supplied. "These grave facts," says the petition, "are seriously disturbing and unsettling the public mind. It is impossible not to contrast the long delay in the opening up of the Saskatchewan district with the policy pursued in Dakota, a climate with a country and a soil inferior to ours. Through a wise development, that country has, since the erection of Manitoba into a province, attracted a vastly greater population than Manitoba and all our territories put together, and is well supplied with transfer lines, which have as a matter of fact in that country been pushed on ahead of settlement. If the promises made are not carried out this region will speedily become the theatre of agitation and disturbance and the community will break up through the bad faith of those who have the power to supply its needs." This strong deliverance is signed by Mr. Knowles, the mayor of Prince Albert.

THE SAFE PLAN.

When suffering from a troublesome cold, a hacking cough, hoarseness, or lung troubles, or other forms of throat or lung troubles, it is to use Hargrave's Pectoral Balm to loosen the phlegm and soothe and heat the inflamed mucous surfaces. It cures where others fail.

Drunkenness is either actual or habitual, and every habit is only a repetition of single instances.

Whitby, Ont., Chronicle: Mr. A. M. McLane, clerk of the municipality of South Qu'Appelle, N.W.T., was in town on Monday and called to talk with us about the Northwest. Mr. McLane is an old Ashburn boy and a son of Mrs. McLane, who died last year, a lady who was believed to be the most talented of her sex in Canada. Mr. McLane is a great enthusiast regarding the Northwest and is very anxious that thousands of our Canadians may take advantage of excursion rates to visit the Northwest during this year. He says Icelanders, Scandinavians, Germans, Roumanians and thousands of Europeans from other countries are flocking in there and taking up good locations, whilst our Canadians so close at hand, are letting splendid opportunities slip by of immensely bettering themselves. They have plenty of railway accommodation plenty of supplies—stores, agencies and the like, plenty of wealth—like every new country always has—and no settler need for more than one year be without all the conveniences he requires. "It is not much more bother to go to the Northwest and take up a good farm of your own," says friend McLane "than to move from one rented farm to another. When you make a move and go there you have a permanent home and where you can grow enormous crops, and live comfortably without rent or interest, not always behind in rent and harassed to death by the landlord. The climate at Qu'Appelle is fine, only three cold days having been experienced during the past winter, while early each spring the chinook winds from the west clear away the snow. What Mr. McLane recommends is for people to visit that country this summer at a cost of from $10 to $60 and see for themselves, and he believes this inspection of the country would open the eyes of Canadians to the fact that foreigners are securing all the best places in the Northwest, which really might have gone to our own people.

MONTREAL, April 21.—Donald Morrison, the Lake Megantic outlaw, who has defied the whole force of police for over twelve months, was captured this evening by a constable from Montreal. The Government was captured in their attempts to arrest him for the murder of a United States marshal named Warren at Lake Megantic, applied to the mayor of Montreal and he sent out a force of city police headed by Judge Dugas. These men were ten days in the woods without success, though Morrison was persuaded by Judge Dugas to hold an interview with him, but no terms could be arranged. Yesterday all these police except five were recalled and returned to the city. To-day one of the Montrealers, Constable McMahon saw a man answering Morrison's description enter a house at Marston, and after watching the house for several hours went up and demanded the man to come out. He did so, but instead of obeying the policeman's order to throw up his hands he drew his revolver and fired three shots at McMahon and his Indian companion. Very quickly they brought their rifles in position and brought the outlaw to the ground with a wound in the hip. Assistance soon arrived and the captured outlaw was taken to Sherbrooke jail by special train.

ULCERATED STOMACH.

"For three years I was unable to work, suffering from an ulcerated stomach. Medical aid having failed, I was told to try Burdock Blood Purifiers, of which 7 bottles made a permanent cure. This was two years ago and I feel that I have to thank B.B.P. for being kind and well to day." Mrs. Rose Ann McLuskey, Marston, Ont.

The Qu'Appelle Progress

IS A STRAIGHT
PROHIBITION PAPER
Making the Cause of First Public Importance.
Only One Dollar a Year in Advance.
FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1889.

THE ILLUSTRATION OF THE NORTHWEST.

The Dominion Illustrated is one of the very finest illustrated publications and is issued weekly. Its engravings by photo-gravure process are equal to the finest photographs. Clubbed with The Progress it is only $4.00 a year. It has the following in reference to the Northwest.

"Our readers may recall that, when the DOMINION ILLUSTRATED was established, one of the objects which its founders undertook to promote was the disseminating of needed knowledge touching the resources, scenery and people of our great Northwest. Although in recent years a great deal has been written on the subject in books and pamphlets and the daily press, there is still a mass of valuable and interesting information concerning the stretch of country between the great lakes and the Rocky Mountains which it properly falls within the scope of such a journal as this to place worthily before the public. Apart from the patriotic concern that all Canadians must feel in the development of so grand a heritage, there is in certain phases of Northwestern progress much that is extremely interesting to all cultivated and thoughtful minds. The pictorial and literary illustrations of those phases, based on photographs taken and facts elicited at all the chief centres of colonizing activity, we propose to make a principal feature of our paper during the coming summer. No point worthy of special observation in that vast field of human industry will fail to receive the attention that it deserves. The improved methods of cultivating wheat, on a scale of which our forefathers never dreamed, will be portrayed in all their instructive reality. What ever is most salient and noteworthy in the great ranching district of the farther west will be made clear by views and descriptions. The advances over prairie and mountain of the iron steed which, in our day, is the avant-courier of civilization, will be shown in a series of graphic sketches taken at various stages along the complete and unfinished lines. Survey parties will also be delineated. The Indian will not be forgotten. Of the mounted police, our readers shall have glimpses as they appear both on ordinary duty and on special service. City and village and farm, with whatever is attractive and instructive in each, will be faithfully depicted, and expanses of fertile country on which no human habitation has yet risen will be seen waiting the settlers' enterprise. Special points will be taken to do justice to what is most striking in its grandeur or beauty in Northwestern scenery. Plain and mountain, buffalo-trail and water-course, haunt of antelope and rendezvous of water-fowl, will have their place in our panorama. But to make it such a truth—to bring within our projected series of pictures and papers every characteristic trait of our Northwest, the people and its progress—we must have the sympathy and co-operation of those who, like ourselves, are anxious that the world should see Canada as it really is."

To facilitate the task of those whose aim we now invite to our project, we have appointed Mr. J. H. Brownlee, of Brandon, our special agent throughout the Northwest; and to that gentleman all correspondence on the subject, as well as photographs and sketches, should be addressed. We bespeak on his behalf and our own the excellent assistance of all patriotic Northwesters who would see the white prairies of Manitoba, the green uplands of Assiniboia and Alberta's broad pastures presented to the world as their importance demands. It is hardly necessary to insist further on the advantage to the people of the Northwest of having their country, so favored by nature and so happily situated for supporting a large and prosperous population, described and illustrated as its great resources merit. By aiding us in carrying out our plan, there is no point not only of the older provinces of Canada but of the United States, of Great Britain and her possessions abroad, and of the European continent, that will be left in darkness as to that splendid region of which we are so proud to-day and in which lies, to a great extent, our hope for the future.

TAKE A CENSUS OF PROHIBITIONISTS.

Toronto Globe.
Opponents of Prohibition commonly assert that a majority of the electors are consumers of liquor and hostile to prohibitory laws. Upon this assertion many politicians build their refusal to press for the adoption of a Dominion Prohibitory Act. They say that, if the majority of the electors or even a large minority are against such legislation, it would not be supported by public opinion, but would be generally evaded, and so brought into disfavor that is fatal to the Scott Act. Now this argument is fallacious in two respects. First, it may be and probably is untrue that a majority of the electors are anti-Prohibitionists. Second, a majority of electors may be a very small minority of the people whose opinions ought to receive deference from Parliament.

The presumption that the electors of Canada represent public opinion pretty closely is correct in respect of most matters of a political nature. Hence the women, the young men and the whole body of the unfranchised are indirectly influential in Parliament. They have a natural right to at least that much representation. If they are not represented, but grossly misrepresented, in important matters, then they have a serious grievance. And there is much reason to believe that those chosen to represent the electors—a portion of the male adults—do not at all represent public opinion regarding Prohibition.

Accurate knowledge of how the matter stands would be very useful. But we have it not. No statistics give it and there is no way at present of getting at indisputable facts in the business. What can be done to get the facts? Some say a plebiscite might be taken at the next general election, i.e., every voter might be invited to mark "yes" or "no" upon a ballot paper putting the question, "Do you favor a Dominion Prohibitory liquor law?" Leaving out of mention constitutional and other objections to a plebiscite, it would disclose not even the opinion of the adult males entitled to vote, not even the opinion of the percentage of electors who did go to the polls, but only the opinion of those electors who might choose to express themselves in such a way upon the question of Prohibition. A vast majority of the people might be entirely misrepresented by such a plebiscite, and would certainly be entirely unheard from.

Another suggestion is that the religious bodies should take a census of their total abstainers and friends of Prohibition, men, women and young people of responsible age. This would be useful. We recommend the suggestion to the churches. But the report would be very incomplete at best; it would be unofficial and conclusions drawn from it would be very disputable on the platform.

A far better plan to ascertain electoral and public opinion in the matter would be this—Let the Dominion Government take a census of total abstainers and Prohibitionists in connection with the decennial census of 1891, for which great preparations are even now being made. We can at present see no objection to this scheme. It involves little or no expense. Nothing would be required but two or three more questions by the enumerator and two or three more columns for responses in their lists. Thus Parliament men, publishers, preachers, journalists, and other good and worthy instructors of the people, might be enabled to show, from official indisputable documents, just how many grown people are total abstainers and just how many wish for a Dominion Prohibitory law, and just the degree in which the opinion of the electorate coincides with that of the public. Exceedingly valuable results might come from such enumeration. What objection can be made to the project? The State has as much right to ascertain whether its inhabitant is a total abstainer or a Prohibitionist as to ascertain whether its inhabitant is a carpenter, or milliner, born abroad, or twenty-five years of age, or of French origin. The State is entitled to collect from its inhabitants any information that may be important to the State, and surely it is highly important to know in what degree total abstinence and a desire for prohibitory legislation prevails. We think the majority will heartily approve our suggestion for employing Dominion census machinery in the business. Should the champions of the liquor interest object, they will clearly say that they fear to have the truth discovered.

"Intemperance is the voluntary extinction of reason. The great evil is inward and spiritual."—Dr. Channing.

General Napier and the heroic General Havelock, the hero of the Indian mutiny, both bear strong testimony to the great advantage of abstinence from all intoxicants in the army.

Safe's Brigade in Afghanistan was out of the reach of alcohol during a long, fatiguing march through the country, and enjoyed unusual exemption from sickness, crime and death. Gleig, the historian of the campaign, says: "No sickness, no crime."

"The great principles of the Bible, the spirit of the Bible, and a thousand texts of the Bible, are pointed against the drink traffic, and every step the trafficker takes he infringes on the spirit and bearing of some declaration of God."—Albert Barnes.

The American generals, Stuart and Stonewall Jackson, who fought so heroically, were teetotalers, and ascribed their power of endurance to their abstinence from strong drink during the burning heat of summer, and the freezing cold of their winter campaigns.

Alcohol comes from the destruction of sugar, and has no other source in nature. It is not a product of vegetable growth like those substances which are created to form the food of man. It is a product of dissolution—the wreck and disorganization of the principles of human food.

"I have frequently been asked whether prisoners did not suffer in health by the sudden withdrawal of intoxicating drinks on their coming to prison. In reply I can say that in all my experience (and I have attended the goal 27 years) I never knew a single instance of any injury of the kind."—Mr. Hill on "Crime."

"The heredity of alcohol is now beyond dispute. Men and women on whom this dread inheritance has been forced without their consent are everywhere around us, bravely struggling to lead a pure and noble life; and would it not be an act of justice to make every church, every home and every land safe for all such afflicted ones by the expulsion of all such intoxicating beverages from our sacred services, from our social gatherings, and from within our borders."—Dr. Norman Kerr.

"The greatest marksmen, athletes, hunters, travellers, and soldiers have been abstainers. Hannibal and Mahomed, Saladin and Garibaldi were warrior teetotalers. Waterton and Danlop as travellers, Charles XII of Sweden, and Angus Cameron (who won the Queen's prize at Wimbledon in 1867 and 1869, and carried off the Caledonian Challenge shield, valued at £500, at Edinburgh) were all good specimens of the steadiness of nerve, the calmness in danger, the intrepid bravery, the heroic actions, the power of endurance, and the indefatigable exertions, toil and exposure they bore with impunity, while sustained by nutritious food, entirely free from any alcoholic excitement as they were all teetotalers."

A VALUABLE WORK.

We have before us a book of the most useful information relative to Manitoba. In it is Brownlee's New Index Map, on the face of which every section, township, railroad station, completed lines of railroad projected lines, grain centres, schools and churches in that section of our North-West. No intending settler can afford to do without this most interesting work, as, in this Indexed Form, to which there are devoted fourteen pages, and at one glance any school boy can locate in an instant any particular point. Mr. Brownlee, as a surveyor, has in this work presented to the intending settlers for the nominal sum of 25 cents, a mass of worthy information, reliable and worth double the money. Parties desiring further information in regard to Manitoba, by addressing Mr. J. H. Brownlee at his home, Brandon, Man., will have a prompt and reliable response.

THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.

And on its purity largely depends the general health. No one is free from danger, and nine-tenths of humanity actually do suffer from one form or other of impure blood. No one remedy has such a wide range of curative power as has Burdock Blood Bitters—that best of all blood purifiers and tonics.

FOUR NEW STATES.

South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington.
On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, and Washington states of the Union.
South Dakota.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway (the main line) runs through Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown, and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.
North Dakota.—Where is grown No. 1 Hard Scotch Field wheat; whose headful climate nurtures the most vigorous and bountiful vegetation on earth, where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley than entire states; the soil of whose fertility prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Minn., Devil's Lake and the Red River territory, the richest country per inhabitant on earth, where property is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a balmy winter climate, and the finest wheat lands from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the Great River of 18,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water, and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse-power cataraacts; immense coal veins, and surrounding farming country of free land, lying through Helena, the capital city and commercial centre of Montana, and butte, the richest mining camp on earth, to San Francisco by the Columbia River Valley, Port land and Shasta Route, or Ogden, Utah, to California point. Remember this is the only line running dining cars, sleeping cars, and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.
Washington.—The country of tall timbered by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific coast. The Manitoba Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland, and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change of delay. Distance to the Pacific Coast is same as by other lines, but prices of tickets are less and less dollars. Take the Seattle route.
For further information, maps, rates and publications in regard to the resources of the four new states, write or apply to F. J. WURNER, Seattle, Wash. and Ed. Agt. N. W. M. & M. Co., St. Paul, Minn.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26 1889.

A CENSUS ON PROHIBITION.

On our Prohibition page (the 2nd inside) we give an article taken from the Toronto Globe in which the suggestion is made that when the census of 1891 is taken, that among the other questions should be one or more to be asked by the enumerators when making their rounds, to ascertain the views of the population of Canada on Prohibition.
The suggestion is a good and timely one. There can be no objection to it on the score of expense, nor is it open to the constitutional question raised against a plebiscite. In fact it is a most simple way of ascertaining public opinion on the great question of Prohibition. The feeling of the people of the Dominion could be obtained effectively and conclusively in the manner suggested. There is a large amount of cavilling in reference to the Prohibition sentiment of the country.
Prohibitionists generally are of the opinion that they are now in the majority, while their opponents hotly contend the contrary to be the case. All farininded men will at once fall in with the suggestion of taking the census. Opposition to it can only come from those who fear the result. The Government should make this one of the subjects on which their officers will obtain information, and make their preparations accordingly.

COURAGE OF CONVICTION.

An intelligent man watching the anonymous small sheets printed in the various counties where Scott Act contests were recently carried on in Ontario, would be disgusted at the shuffling and contemptible tactics employed by some of them to carry their through a trying period. Nearly everybody can respect the manly and open advocacy of a cause, or opposition to it, but few have any other feeling than contempt for the shuffling of some papers and the security of others.
The Whitty Chronicle, published in Ontario county, was a most energetic and manly advocate of the Scott Act. On the eve of the re-sultal vote it said:

"A party said to us the other evening that as soon as this Scott Act contest was over, a number of hotel-keepers and leading whiskey men would hold a little caucus and stop their Chronicle. We said that would be all right, that if all the hotel-keepers in this county would settle up with us and stop their papers we would be about $50 in pocket, though we must say many of them don't owe us a cent, and always pay up. We are not short of subscribers, and have always held it to be a man's own prerogative to either take the Chronicle or stop it whichever he chooses. Any man who is such a moral coward he can't stand to read the plain truth, don't want the Chronicle. Such men should take some of those "Good God, good devil" papers, that always face both ways. As a matter of fact when it comes to the point the hotel-keepers will think more of the Chronicle for speaking out than of these sheets that call themselves temperance papers and keep their mouths shut lest anybody on either side might suspect them of having backbone in a moral question. We have taken hundreds of new subscribers in the last three months, and will easily take ten in future for every name we lose—if we lose a name at all, which catastrophe we have not suffered now for some time past. This paper is published only for those who wish to read it. We make this plain, so that no man need go blushing round that he takes the Chronicle against his wishes."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

About every other article in the Regina Leader of this week is Mr.
Davin this and Mr. Davin that.
Would it not be better for the Leader to leave some of that for the other papers to do if they think Mr. Davin worthy of it?

The Regina Leader claims credit for Mr. Davin for urging that the Northwest Legislature be clothed with full powers on liquor legislation and that such power be exercised only after the next general election. So much the worse for Mr. Davin. Why did he not go in for Prohibition or a straight plebsicite?

That automatic boss horn yclept the Regina Leader does not come down with its affidavits, or does it attempt to answer our indictment of last week. As is its usual custom when cornered or worsted in argument it takes refuge in silence.
It would interest the public to know what ulterior object the Leader is working for if the prices it receives for Government printing were at no time high enough to enable the office doing the work to make a profit. The gratuitous puff of any paper does not change the fact that the printing of the Northwest Revised Ordinances is a botch, and that the prices paid for the work are excessive. The protests, denials and explanations of the Leader are on a par with its scurrility, comparable to the bellowing of a sick calf.

Return was made on the 20th of the papers in the suit for libel instituted by the Jesuits against the Mail Printing company. The latter has now ten days in which to file a plea. It has taken no notice of the suggestion of Counsellor Lamotte that the matter be settled by an arbitration and payment of costs, and this, taken in connection with the fact that it has engaged eminent counsel is taken as an indication of the fact that it proposes to fight the case to the bitter end.

The talented Bill Nye puts it daily: "Don't attempt to cheat the editor out of a year's subscription to his paper or any other sum.
Cheer the minister or doctor, cheat anybody and everybody, but if you have any regard for future consequences do not fool the editor. You may be up for office sometime, or want some public favor for yourself or friends, and your luck is a thing of beauty and a joy forever, the editor will open out on you and knock your air castles into a cocked hat at the first fire. He'll subdue you, and then you'll blame your stupidity for a drivelling idiot, go and hire some man to knock you down and then kick you for falling." Bill is an editor and he knows all about it.

PROPOSED PACIFIC OCEAN ELECTRIC ROUTES.

The Dominion Illustrated of April 6th, gives a plan showing at a glance the three routes proposed for a trans-Pacific electric telegraph—No. 1, the Northern, projected nearly twenty years since by Mr. F. N.
Gibson, C.E., and Electrician, whose portrait and eventual career appeared in their issue of the 23rd February last; No. 2, the Central, or United States route; and No. 3, the Southern, advocated by the Australian colonies and by Mr. Sandford Fleming, C.E.

The relative approximate distances from point to point are as follows:

	Nautical Miles.
Via the Northern route.
Sook Bay, near Victoria, B.C., to Un- imak, Aleutian Islands	1,500
Unimak, Aleutian Islands to Attu Island	800
Attu Island to Japan	1,300
	3,600
Japan to Luzon Island, Manila (where there is a direct cable to China, 529 miles)	1,200
Luzon Island to Port Guinea	1,140
New Guinea to Port Darwin, Austr.	650
	3,000

Via the Central route.
San Francisco to Oahu, Sandwich Island	2,020
Oahu to Wake Island	730
Wake Island to Wake Island	1,280
Wake Island to Marcus Island	780
Marcus Island to Japan	1,020
	5,830

Via the Southern route.
Sook Bay, near Victoria, B.C., to Oa- hu, Sandwich Island	2,400
Oahu to Fanning Island	1,950
Fanning to one of the Fiji Islands	1,680
Fiji Island to Brisbane, Australia	1,620
	6,750

Adding 12 per cent. slack for the cable as submerged, and estimating the cost at $950 per nautical mile laid, the relative cost of the several routes for a single connecting line would be as follows:

Northern route via the Aleutian Islands to Japan	$3,850,400
Central route via the Sandwich Is- lands to Japan	$5,330,570
Northern route via Japan to Aus- tralia	7,022,400
Southern route via Sandwich Is- lands to Australia	7,182,000

Experience has proved, however, that a single series of cables would be totally inadequate to maintain uninterrupted communication through such vast distances, and for this reason alone double the above expenditure of capital must be anticipated.

The risk of damage for abrasion via the Southern and Central Pacific routes, is exceptionally great, on account of the numerous coral reefs and coral-bound islands which rise precipitously from profound depths of oceans, whereas the Northern Pacific, so far as known, is entirely free from such dangers, both soundings and bottom being similar to those of Northern Atlantic submarine cable routes.

It is, of course, a simple question of sentiment as to the desirability of landing cables upon recent British possessions like Fanning and the Fiji Islands, for the purpose of securing immunity from foreign intervention; or upon independent territory like the Sandwich Islands, whose rulers can be held responsible for any wilful damage to national enterprises; for, given a swift cruiser, a length of two or three miles, and a few cutting grapnels, any cable, no matter where located or depth of ocean, can be rendered useless with far less danger than is incurred by blockade runners.

The commercial advantages attendant upon telegraphic connection via the Northwest route, which is the shortest and cheapest, to the more important markets, are indisputable. During the last fiscal year the United States commenced with Japan and China exceeded $246, 000,000, whereas Canada's trade only amounted to $10,000,000; but in the immediate future, the trade of the Dominion with Japan and China, aided by the trans-continental line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and by fast ocean steamers connected therewith, must of necessity increase in far greater relative proportion; and thus, with four hundred millions of people, nearer by 3,000 miles to our shores than the four million Australians colonists it is obvious that Canadian interests can be more effectively served by the Northern route.

The prospective earnings of the several enterprises must also be taken into consideration, for, upon the tariff rates, must depend the question of successful competition; and in this connection it must be borne in mind that the speed of transmission, through a 3,000 mile cable, is limited to about seventeen words per minute; or, if in sufficiently perfect electrical condition for duplex working, twenty-five words per minute; whereas a cable half that length, say 1,500 miles (vide the Northern route), can be duplexed and worked as rapidly as skillful operators can manipulate the instruments.

In the regular course of business messages are necessarily crowded within three or four hours of each day, and the speed of transmission, to effect prompt delivery and reply, is unquestionably a very important element of success.

It being evident that the lowest tariff will prevail over the shortest distances to important business centres, established and prospective rates must also be considered. For instance:

	Per Word.
The existing price from Canada to Japan, via India and Singapore, is	$2.21
As proposed by the subsidized North- ern route, via the Sandwich Is- lands and Australia	2.25
And by the unsubsidized Northern route via the unsubsidized Aleu- tian Islands	.75
All routes allowing 25 cents per word for trans-Atlantic and trans- Continental lines. Again:

The present rate from Canada, via Singapore, to China, and also as proposed by the Southern route, is $1.91
Whereas, via the Northern route, it would not exceed

1.69
And finally, the distances by the Northern and Southern routes to Australia being very nearly equal, viz., 6,600 and 6,750 respectively, it is evident that the Northern,
which will have already profited by the shortest and most direct connection with Japan and China, could afford lower rates to Australia than the Southern route, and (as suggested by Mr. Gibson) the United States Colonies and the United States Governments would combine in the establishment of telegraphic connections from British Columbia and Washington Territory to Japan, China and Australia, via Alaska and the Aleutian Islands, and thus, by adopting the most feasible, least costly and only remunerative international route, prevent all rivalry and future competition.

N.B.—The present route of a cable message from Canada to Australia, New Zealand and China is as follows: It goes from New York to London, then via the Great Northern Telegraph line to Denmark, from there to Russia, across Siberia, to China and Japan. This is all-land route. Another route is from New York to London. From there it goes via the Eastern Telegraph Co. to France. Thence by cable through the Mediterranean and Red Sea to Aden, from Aden to Bombay, from there to Penang, Singapore and Batavia. It enters Australia at Port Darwin, thence overland to the principal cities of Sydney, Melbourne, etc. A cable connects New Zealand with Sydney.
Also Tasmania with Melbourne.

The Presbyterian synod at Quebec passed resolutions on the endowment of Jesuits. They condemn Member for enacting it and the Federal authorities for not disallowing it. The Presbytery meets next year in Guelph.

Morrison's example is being followed and six men, for whom it is supposed warrants are out, have disappeared, and most of them are now in the woods. The young men around Springfield talk more or less excitedly, and it is feared some of them will land together and do something rash. Some young hot-heads even talk about calling on the United States for aid. High Constable Bissnette will not make any more arrests till he hears from Judge Dugas. The question of hunting Morrison with blood hounds is being discussed.

FATHER HAD QUINSEY.

We find Burdock Blood Bitters excellent for weakness, and equally so for headache. Father also suffered a very fine quinsy, which B. B. B., by its tonic and purifying properties, completely cured.

Newsy Notes.

The Week's News Boiled down for Progress Readers.

Lord Brownlow denies that he has accepted the viceroyship of Ireland. He says he has never been offered the post.

Mr. Gonyea, M. P., has been summoned to appear before the court at Falmouth to answer the charge of conspiring to oppose the law.

The Rideau Canal was opened on the 22nd inst. This is the earliest opening for fifty years. The season's traffic will commence on the 23rd.

The Journal Sabram says that ex-King Milan has become a monk of Jerusalem with a view to eventually becoming patriarch of all the Servians.

The body of Ashworth, British Vice-Consul at Castellaware was found at the foot of the precipice overlooking the Bay of Naples at Vico Egnense. It is believed that he committed suicide.

F. C. Ford, British minister to Spain, has been presented with the civil decoration of the Grand Cross of the Bath in honor of the meeting of Queen Victoria and Queen Regent Christina at San Sebastian.

The Czar has ordered Baron De Mohrenheim, Russian ambassador to France, to return to Russia and remain there during the Paris exhibition, unless the French government urgently request his retention in Paris.

General Boulanger arrived at Folkestone, via Ostend, on the 23rd. His friends resent the assertions that his departure from Brussels was compulsory, and declare that he will return to the Belgian capital after a brief sojourn in London.

The English bond-holders of the Hudson's Bay railway, under the Manitoba guarantee of 1886, propose to petition the Dominion Government to veto the recent Manitoba act, which, they allege, repudiates the provincial obligation under the guarantee.

A delegation of publishers from Toronto was at Ottawa on the 22nd inst. asking the Government to strike out the amendment to the copyright bill, which makes it not retro-active. The publishers want it retro-active, but the Government will not consent.

It is asserted that the recent visit of Count Heriot Bismarck to England which, although ostensibly in pursuit of a political mission, was really made for the purpose of fructifying his hopes of marrying a relative of the Marquis of Landsdowne, resulted in a complete failure, and that the engagement is off.

The rioting in connection with the strike of the tram car men was renewed at Vienna on the 22nd. The strikers attacked the cars and succeeded in smashing many of them. The cavalry was again called out and a charge was made upon the rioters, many of whom were wounded. About 100 strikers were arrested.

Five thousand people attended the mass meeting held on the night of the 22nd inst. at Toronto to express approval of the action of the 13 members of Parliament who voted for the disallowance of the Jesuit estates bill. Four of the 13 present spoke and received ovations. The speech of the evening was that of Dalton McCarthy. He dealt the legal features of the question and with the arguments of the Minister of Justice in the Commons, letting the audience know that he differed entirely with the Minister. He expressed the opinion that the government of Sir John Macdonald had been long enough in power, and this expression was received with hearty appreciation.

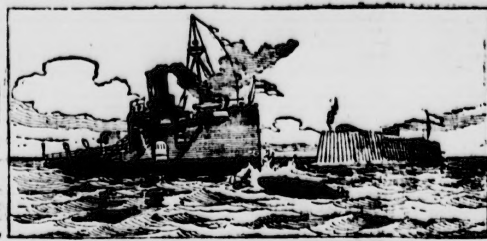

A CURE FOR LUMBAGO.

That singular complaint can be quickly cured by the right remedy. Miss Mary Jane Gould, of Stoney Creek, Ont., says: "I was troubled with lumbago, and could not get relief until I used Haysard's Yellow Oil, one bottle of which cured me entirely."

A TREMENDOUS HIT.

The Great War Syndicate!

BY FRANK R. STOCKTON.

THE FIRST GREAT NAVAL BATTLE OF THE WAR SYNDICATE.

The editor of this paper begs to announce that he has made arrangements with "Collier's Once a Week," through the American Press Association, whereby this paper will be enabled to publish, in serial form,

The Most Extraordinary Story of the Century,

THE GREAT WAR SYNDICATE,

By FRANK R. STOCKTON, the famous litterateur, author of "Rudder Grange," "Amos Kilbright—His Admiration Experiences," "The Sea-Man of Ours," "The Christmas Wreck," "The Lady or the Tiger," "The Late Mrs. Null," "The Hundredth Man," "The Casting Away of Mrs. Lecks and Mrs. Alshouse," "The Dussantes," Etc.

Mr. Stockton's powers of fascination were never so thoroughly exerted as in this most extraordinary story—

A Story Which Holds the Reader Breathless from Beginning to End.

Its appearance in "Collier's Once a Week" has caused the literary sensation of the year, and to its marvelous enchantment this enterprising and charming paper owes much of its signal and phenomenal success.

Watch for the First Installment of this Great Story!

Begin at the Beginning, and We Will Risk Your Continuing to the End!

ORCHARD AND GARDEN.

MATTER PERTAINING TO THE CULTURE OF FLOWERS AND FRUITS.

Laying Out Flower Beds to Give Decorative Effects—Suggestions About Grouping Plants with a View to Harmonious Colors and Pleasing Contrasts.

The shapes of flower beds can be varied largely, and should be carefully studied, as from this and the color of the plants employed result the brilliant effects so much admired. Avoid as far as possible sharp points, as they are difficult to keep well filled; most plants group more naturally in rounded forms. This difficulty can be overcome with plants that will stand severe trimming. A sharp pointed star of alternations on a green lawn always seems to please.

SOME EFFECTIVE FLOWER BEDS.

cult to keep well filled; most plants group more naturally in rounded forms. This difficulty can be overcome with plants that will stand severe trimming. A sharp pointed star of alternations on a green lawn always seems to please.

The cult here reproduced from American Garden offers suggestions that can be used in part or whole, according to the space. The different beds should be filled with contrasting colors, which may be repeated in corresponding parts of the design. When different colors are employed in the same bed they had better be harmonizing tints of the same species of plants, although in large beds every sort and kind are employed. To work out the intricate patterns which some gardeners pride themselves on, the chances of failure greatly increase according to the number employed.

Simple figures cut in the grass and grouped or scattered about among shrubs are almost always more satisfactory, adds the authority quoted, than designs in large beds, where the failure of one variety of plant destroys the beauty of the whole, and better for animals, where the effect depends on the color of the flowers and not on the leaves. The green grass acts as a setting, and enhances the beauty, like a frame to a picture. Do not attempt raised beds unless a hose and abundant water are near at hand. Designs of monograms, crests, coats of arms, etc., are frequently employed.

A favorite way in England is to have small beds cut in the turf in some regular figures running along the sides of a walk, sometimes interspersed with shrubs and sub-tropical plants, although the shape, which individual beds may be given are endless. They should, when seen together, fall into some regular figure.

Trust with their weak, starved appearance in a way fatal to all elegance. Never fail to have the strongest possible plants to be had, with good roots, for our seasons are too short to have weakly plants only to have their vigor cut down by early frost.

This is especially true of heliotrope, which always looks best in a bed by itself. The best display can be had by using plants with strong roots cut down to the ground; old plants from large pots are as good as anything, as they have good roots, and the tops that come from winter quarters are better of any account. Enrich the bed liberally with bon manure and give liberal waterings of manure water during the first of the season; pick off all the flower buds as fast as they appear until the stocky plants cover the bed, and then let them bloom; the surrounding air will be fragrant and the bed glorious all the rest of the season, and a covering of newspapers will protect them from quite a severe frost. A fine effect in a large bed is produced by planting the lightest varieties on one side and shading it across to the opposite where those almost black are placed. It loves all the sun and air it can get.

All flowers employed in this way should be in masses of one color, or, in rare cases, of two, of which one is white. Avoid clashing the different reds, separating them in all cases by other colors. A bed of salmon colored geraniums is delightful by itself or bordered with white, but if seen with other reds looks sickly, and if mixed with them is a source of irritation to all but the color blind.

QU'APPELLE.

The weather continues fine. Rain now would do good.

Constables Hatfield and Smith replace others removed from this Mounted Police post.

Monquito bills are not yet due but we are informed that some have been presented and protested.

Inspector Cuthbert was here during the past week and inspected the Mounted Police detachment here.

Constable Baugh has been removed to Wapella where he has been placed in charge of the Mounted Police detachment.

The baseball club will practice this afternoon. They are getting ready for a game with the Regina club on the Queen's birthday.

Rose trees and flowering shrubs, raspberry, currant and gooseberry bushes for sale at the Qu'Appelle Medical Hall. Call before they are all gone.

Rolling horses, treecleas, and boys' wheelbarrows and express wagons, base balls, rubber balls and other new goods just received at the Qu'Appelle Medical Hall.

There will be a general meeting of the Qu'Appelle Hunt on Friday, the 3rd May, at 10 o'clock in Mr. MacCaul's office. As business of importance will be transacted, members are particularly requested to attend.

Staff Sergt. Spicer took a detachment of Mounted Police to Humboldt en route to Prince Albert, and returned with another during the past week.

The Roman Catholic congregation had their church most handsomely decorated for Holy Thursday and Easter. A large part of the decorations were provided by Mrs. Beauchamp and consisted of growing flower plants, illuminated with various colored lights. Rev. Father Montreuil is most earnest and devoted to his work. His day of work is largely made up of children but would not attend any school regularly without being drummed on. He is doing a good work in educating them.

—Mr. B. B. Bradley has moved out to the McLeish farm.

—Much of the wheat sown is already presenting a healthy green appearance.

—Mr. F. A. Hurd arrived here yesterday with his polled Angus stock of which we made mention last week.

—The adjourned meeting of the Qu'Appelle Liberal Conservative Association will be held on Tuesday, May 7th, in McLane's hall.

—Mr. G. W. Roberts has resigned as meteorological observer, and will be succeeded by Mr. Robert Worsley, recently from Ontario.

—Mr. S. H. Caswell's creamery building is rapidly growing and the plant is on the way. It is expected that operations will begin about the second week in May.

—Rev. Mr. Patterson, of Queen's College, Kingston, passed through here on Tuesday en route to Prince Albert, where he is stationed to minister to the Presbyterian congregation for the summer.

—This municipality is supplying the farmers with a certain amount of strychnine for the extermination of the gophers. The Qu'Appelle Medical Hall has the contract. Orders to procure it can be obtained from Mr. T. T. Thompson, chairman of the council.

—The Regina Leader in mentioning the Bishop of Qu'Appelle or in referring to our St. John's College always very conveniently leaves out the word Qu'Appelle, and thus makes it appear that His Lordship and the College both belong to Regina. This is on a par with the narrowness of the Leader generally.

—Some miscreants on Monday night last entered the C. P. R. garden here and pulled up a mountain ash tree and broke it in pieces, and pulled up and destroyed some flowering shrubs that had just been planted that day. They should be punished with the utmost severity possible, as such men are on a par with the incendiary.

—St. Peter's was very nicely decorated for Easter, and to the children and teachers of the Sunday School is the credit due for the work of arranging the decorations. The children were very enthusiastic in procuring flowers and other things available for the occasion. The services of the day were most impressive throughout, and were well attended.

—A largely attended meeting of the citizens was held at the Queen's hotel for the purpose of arranging for sport on the Queen's birthday. The meeting unanimously decided to hold races and sports on two days, the 24th and 25th May. A committee was appointed to see after the laying out of the track and fencing it in, subject to the consent of the Town Site Trustees, and to collect subscriptions towards the expense. A committee of management was also appointed. A subscription list has been started and the indications are that it will meet with the success it deserves.

—Mr. Andrew Grey, one of the Immigrant Agents who went east in the interest of the electoral district returned on Saturday night last. He says that the early immigration had left Ontario before he went down, but that he had the promise of many good men who are determined to come along during the summer. They are a good class of farmers and will make desirable settlers.

—At the Island; J. D. Lowden, Toronto; A. Fears, C. McDougall, D. McDougall, Kamloops, B. C.; Miss Nora Sutherland, J. Dillon, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Ireland, E. Swindler, J. Thorburn, R. HUNTING APPOINTMENTS.

Qu'Appelle hounds will meet on Tuesday, April 30, at Mr. Handyside's farm, at 9 o'clock.
Friday, May 3rd, not arranged.

THOROUGHBREDS.

Mr. Wm. Broley, of Wideawake, is deserving of much praise for the very spirited enterprise he has shown in bringing into his section so many fine cattle from Barrie in County of Simcoe, Ont., which is the headquarters of some of the finest herds of shorthorns in Canada. Amongst the cattle he purchased were three high class, pure bred shorthorn heifers from Dr. Morton's justly celebrated Clanmore herd. This herd is quartered near Barrie and contains the best representatives of Mr. Mai's importation of over fifty years ago, and they are noted for their superior milking strains, quality, heavy flesh and early maturity. It also contains some of Lord Falworth's choicest strains, the Doctor having purchased from Lord Falworth, of Mottoun House, St. Boswell's, Berwickshire, at a very high price, his first-prize cow "Melrose," and her daughter, "Rose of Clanmore," in 1882. The stock bull at the head of the herd, and which has been used for Mr. Broley's heifers, is called "Primrose Duke," and was bred by the noted breeder, Mr. Sylvester Campbell, of Kinellar, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and imported in 1887, when he was a calf.

STALLIONS.

Two dark brown general-purpose stallions: The Little Frenchman, lately purchased from R. Inman, Esq., of the Beaver Hills Stock Farm, and Young Champion, lately purchased from T. S. Cornell, Esq., Pheasant Forks, will stand for mares this season as follows: On Monday they will remain at their own stable, sec. 18-22-9, and from thence will travel by Balcarres and Mr. Jos. Shore's, to the Mission, and thence by the Valley to Blackwood's or Ellsboro, from thence by the mail trail or the old trail to Pheasant Forks where they will remain all day Saturday, and from thence to their own stable. These two stallions are the property of Mr. J. P. Webster, Pheasant Forks.

The Clydesdale stallion, Tobias, is a beautiful rich bay, 16 hands high with strong round body, large flat bones, good feet and plenty of fine silky feather. He has a good temper and splendid action and from his stylish appearance and the purity of his breeding he cannot fail to get valuable stock. Tobias was foaled in April, 1885, bred by Mr. Daniel M. Martin, Elmira, Ont. His sire, Bay Comet, was imported by Mr. J. Hope, in August, 1872, he was got by the noted horse, Bay Comet, the winner of £500 in prize money, gaining first prize at Edinburgh, Birmingham, Newcastle, Glasgow and a good many others. His dam is a thoroughbred Clydesdale mare, the winner of three first prizes at Glasgow, Forfar and Dumfries; His sire is the well known horse, Waxwork, who gained prizes at Liverpool, Forfar and Aberdeen; his dam was Susan by young Salway, a purebred Clydesdale horse. Tobias is the property of Mr. Andrew Elliott, Jr., Wolseley.

The superior Canadian draught stallion, Lord Darcy, will travel on Monday by Abernethy, J. R. Dinning and L. Smith's; on Tuesday by J. Moxon's and W. H. Stephen's, on Wednesday by Indian Head and on Qu'Appelle; on Thursday by T. W. Carrol's and Fort Qu'Appelle; on Friday by J. Gibbons and his own stable; on Saturday by Canton Bros. Lord Darcy is a beautiful dark bay, stands 17 hands high, weighs 1800 lbs., has good bone and superior action, and is rising six years old. He was sired by Jackson's imported Lord Derby. His dam was a Matchem mare, Lord Derby is the property of Mr. J. Stueck, Abernethy.

The blood stallion, Billy Longueuil will travel on Monday by McLane; on Tuesday by Webster's Farm; on Wednesday by Qu'Appelle; on Thursday by Elgeley Farm and T. W. Carrol's; on Friday, T. W. Carrol's and his own stable where he will remain till Monday morning. Billy Longueuil was sired by Longueuil, a thoroughbred horse owned by Mr. Shaw, Drayton, Ont., dam by Riga, a Kentucky thoroughbred imported and owned by A. M. Smith, Toronto, granddam by "Carom," an imported thoroughbred owned by Sheriff Grange, Guelph, Ont. Billy Longueuil is the property of Mr. D. Macdonald, Qu'Appelle.

A FRIGHTENED MOTHER.

"My little girl, 4 years old, frightened me one night by a cry, 'Oh, I have a horse!' I gave her a dose of Haggard's Yellow Oil, which relieved her at once, and she slept well all night. I have since used it in several cases of cramp, frost bites, etc., and find it always reliable." Mrs. Eva Bradley, Virdeau, Man.
